THE LATEST

Thirty persons are said to have been killed as the result of a race war at Balltown, in Madison parish, La., near the Mississippi line. Militia from both States has been put under orders, and the troops from Mississippi are already on the scene. The trouble began at a camp-meeting Sunday as the outgrowth of the lynching of a negro for criminal assault. Ten persons were killed Sunday and one was perhaps fatally wounded. Five hundred men at once armed and began a hunt for the negroes, many of whom fled across the Mississippi line.

Ajt. Gen. Murray, of the Kentucky State Guard, after a conference with Gov. Beckham in Owensboro, left for Madisonville last night in company with Capt. Ellis, of the Owensboro company of the Third regiment, to investigate the mining situation in Hopkins county, where trouble threatens to break out anew. Two shots were fired at the Reinecke mine guards yesterday, but no one was wounded.

The Secretary of War has ordered the return to Manila of the papers in the case of Lieut. Preston Brown, who was ordered dismissed by a court-marshal. While this action does not save Lieut. Brown's official head, it delays final review for two months or more.
Lieut. Brown will be removed to Fort Thomas, where, however, he will be allowed the liberties of the post.

Judge Burnam, of the Appellate Court, will hear the arguments in a motion which will be made by the attorneys for M. G. Land, of Harrison county, seeking to dissolve the injunction issued by Judge Parker, of Lexington, to prevent his name from going on the ballot as the Democratic nominee for County Attorney in Harrison.

Leon F. Czolgosz will be electrocuted at 7 o'clock this morning in Auburn prison, New York, for the assassination of President McKinley. His body will be secretly buried in the ground controlled by Auburn prison, and not a relic or memento of the assassin will be allowed to go outside the prison walls.

The cross-examination of Rear Admiral Schley was begun by Judge Advocate Lemly in the Court of inquiry yesterday. The government's attorney failed to shake the Rear Admiral's evidence given in direct examination. The cross-examination will probably be completed to-day.

The Rev. B. A. Cherry, of the Tennessee Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has been expelled from the conference, the committee which has been investigating the charges against him having decided that the charges were sustained by the evidence submitted.

The striking miners, who are confined not yet got down to real business. Now the secretaries are in a huff because they were invited to leave the hall while the delegates had a secret conference.

RACE WAR RAGES IN LOUISIANA.

In Two Days Ten Persons Have Been Killed.

STARTED AT A CAMP MEETING.

Militia From Two States Is Ready For Service.

MAN HUNT IS ENGAGED IN.

Assault of a Negro Upon a White Woman and Summary Punishment Aroused Blacks.

SMALL INCIDENT CAUSED THE FIRST SHOT

New Orleans, La., Oct. 28.—A dispatch from Columbia, Miss., to-night says six negroes were shot to death at Live Oak church, about three miles from Balltown, La., one white man killed and another believed fatally wounded, and two negro women and a child were burned almost to cinders in Lott's restaurant, which had been fired by the whites to dislodge Lott and others, who were firing at the whites from behind the counters.

The negroes have taken to the woods, and no further trouble is apprehended at present.

THIRTY CASUALTIES REPORTED.

Struggle Alleged To Have Resolved Itself Into a Man Hunt.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 28.—[Special.] —A race war that already numbers among its victims thirty white men and negroes is raging in and around Bal-ltown, in Washington parish, this State, a few miles from the boundary line of Mississippi, and a company of milita-men from the First Louisiana brigade is being rushed to the scene to put a stop to hostilities.

As far as can be gathered from the meager sources of information at present available, the cause of the bitterness that has led to the outbreak is the determination of the negroes of the region to kill one of their own race who, under orders of the whites, last Wednesday set fire to a pyre about another negro, who was being put to death for a brutal assault upon a white woman and attempted murder.

Five Victims Are White Men.

Of the men already killed as a result of several rifle battles that have been going on since yesterday five are whites and the remainder colored.
When the fighting began the colored men met their foes in the open, but this afternoon several of them fled across the Mississippi line, where the Columbia company of State Guards are stationed to prevent violence in that State, and the others are intrenching themselves in houses in the heart of the town.

Now Becomes a Man Hunt.

The struggle has now resolved itself into a man hunt, with the negroes seeking whatever shelter they can find.

The whites far outnumber them in the neighborhood of Balltown. Late to-night squads of men were reported patrolling the country round the settlement.

Sheriff Simmons, of Washington parish, has telegraphed to Gov. Heard that it will be impossible for him to restore order without the assistance of militia, but it is impossible for the troops to reach the scene before to-morrow, as they will have to march fifteen miles from the nearest railroad before they can get within striking distance.

Start of the Trouble.

Last Wednesday Bill Morris, a negro, assaulted and attempted to murder a white woman, Mrs. John Ball, who is now said to be dying at her home. Morris was caught on the same afternoon and in the presence of several hundred people was burned at the stake in the middle of the town, after being chained to a pine sapling and surrounded by a great heap of pine knots. Another negro was forced to set fire to the wood and as soon as the colored people heard of the affair they held a meeting and denounced the man for his cowardice in complying with the demands of the whites.

Negroes Bent On Revenge.

Violent speeches stirred them to action, and they determined to catch the offender and burn him at the stake in revenge.

According to one story which reaches here as soon as the whites heard of this they organized and arming themselves with shotguns and rifles started out.

They met a party of negroes in the main street of the town bound for the cottage of the man that had fired the pyre and shots were exchanged. In a few hours the whole district was in a tumult.

Went Back With More Arms.

A number of white men riding into Columbia, Miss., from Louisiana brought the first news about the affair.
They brought up all the arms and ammunition they could find in Columbia, and then started off again for the scene of the fighting. A few hours later the Mississippi State Guards arrived from Columbia, but they did not attempt to cross the State line and the battle went on without check.

Race feeling has always been bitter in the section where the trouble started and the assault on Mrs. Ball added to it. The burning of her assailant roused the negroes to fury, which was increased when they saw one of their own number yielding to the threats of the whites, put a match to the wood. It is expected that the Louisiana troops will reach Balltown to-morrow morning.

HOW THE TROUBLE STARTED.

Fourteen Persons Were Killed During the First Day.

Amite City, La., Oct. 28.—Three white men and eleven negroes killed in the startling news from Washington Parish.
The correspondent has conversed with a man from Franklinton, and he confirms the above information, but he knew nothing of what has happened since last evening.

The first news of the race riot was brought here to-day by Mr. Cornelius Mixon, who, with his mother, left from near Franklinton this morning. He said that white men rode into Frank-linton at 2 o'clock this morning asking for help, stating that the negroes were up in arms threatening to exterminate the whites.

The scene of the trouble is at or near Balltown, where a negro was burned last week for criminally assaulting a white woman. This was not the cause, however, of the murders yesterday, in which three white men and eleven negroes were killed and several wounded.

Worse Trouble Was Expected.

Mr. Mixon saw and talked with many men from the scene, and they said more and worse trouble was expected to-day, as armed men were flocking to the scene, and it was reported the blacks were equally active in preparing for a battle.

P. B. Carter arrived from Franklinton a little after dark to-night and told the correspondent that the situation was alarming, and more trouble is feared. He said that Mr. Joseph Seals and Mr. Charles Elliott and another white man he did not know were dead and E. H. Thompson, a white man, wounded, and that eleven negroes were dead. His information was up to last night, and was obtained from people who went to Franklinton for help.

Hundreds Are In Arms.

At 3 o'clock this morning a posse led Franklinton in charge of Sheriff Simmons for the scene, and from all over the country armed men were hurrying to the scene, and Mr. Carter said five hundred men were probably under arms to-day in Washington parish.

The trouble occurred at a negro campmeeting, and the origin, as near as can be ascertained, was as follows:

Crest Lott, a negro, was running a retreatment stand, and the constable, a white man, name not given, went to him and asked for his license. He had none, and became impudent and cursed the constable and defied him. The constable withdrew and obtained assistance. He returned with several white men, when the negro Lott rushed out and fired point blank into the crowd, killing Joseph Seals and Charles Eliott. The whites returned the fire and killed Lott.

Negro Preacher Came Next.

Then a negro preacher named Connelly rushed out of the house with gun in hand, attempting to shoot, when he was killed, and his daughter was killed.
It is said, accidentally. In the shooting which followed another white man was killed and E. H. Thompson wounded, and seven or eight negroes killed.

The shooting had no direct connection with the burning of the negro Morris in that section last week, but it is undoubtedly a sequel to that tragic event. Since that time it is reported that the negroes have been holding nightly meetings preparing to attack the whites.

Remote From Communication.

Balltown is about twenty miles from Franklinton, and in a sparsely-settled section. It is isolated and almost entirely cut off from the outside world.
Franklinton is twenty-seven miles east of this place, and there are no telegraph or telephone lines.

MILITIA FROM TWO STATES.

On Both Sides the Line Order Will Be Restored.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 28.—[Special.]— Gov. Longino has received a telegram from Gov. Heard, of Louisiana, asking permission to send troops through Miss-sissippi to Washington Parish, where a race riot is in progress. Permission was promptly granted. The Louisiana troops will come up the New Orleans and Northeastern to Poplarville, Marion county, from there they will go to Washington Parish by private conveyance, a distance of twenty miles.

The Sheriff of Marion county telegraphs Gov. Longino for permission to call out the Columbia Guards, and that was also granted. Marion county joins Washington Parish. The rioting is understood to be just across the line and many Mississippians are involved.
Gov. Longino has no authority to order troops to Balltown, La. He has, however, granted the request of the Sheriff of Marion county asking that troops be sent to the State line near the scene for the protection of Misssippi people and for the suppression of the rioters should the Mississippi line be crossed.

SAYS TROUBLE IS OVER.

Mississippi Sheriff So Reports To Louisiana's Governor.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 28.—Gov.
Heard received a message this evening from Deputy Sheriff Simmons, of Washington parish, saying that a terrible conflict was in progress between whites and blacks in that parish, with thirty already dead and requesting the Governor to send troops at once.

Gov. Heard wired Gov. Longino, of Mississippi, for permission for armed troops to pass through the State of Mississippi. Gov. Longino answered promptly granting the request for permission. In the meantime a telegram was sent to Gen. John Glynn, Jr., in New Orleans, notifying him of the conflict in Washington parish and directing him to order out one company of fifty men for service and to send them to Poplarville, Miss., to-morrow morning, this being the nearest railroad station to Balltown, La.

Later, upon receipt of advice from Deputy Sheriff Branton, of Marion county, Miss., to-night, that all was quiet and troops were not needed, Gov.
Heard felt somewhat reassured that the riot at Balltown was quelled and advised Gen. Glynn to hold his troops in readiness to be moved if further developments should prove it necessary.

AN ILLINOIS NEGRO ASSAULTS A LITTLE GIRL.

Assault Is Placed In Jail In Car- bondale and Fears of Violence Are Entertained.

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 28.—This has been one of the most exciting nights in the history of this city. This morning Gracie Short, the thirteen-year-old daughter of George W. Short, a trackman, employed on the Illinois Central railroad, came to this city on a shopping tour. On returning she sought a ride with a stranger, and in the wagon was Thomas Moberly, a colored man, aged thirty-five years. Near her home, which is less than two miles from the city, she was assaulted and brutally attacked by the negro, who overtook her, and brutally attacked her. Though the girl escaped, she received two ugly wounds.

The negro came to Carbondale and was attempting to leave the city on a freight train when he was caught. He was arraigned before Justice Clayton and was readily identified by the child.
The crowd in the room became furious, and several persons attacked the negro, inflicting severe wounds. The crowd was forced from the room by the officers present, but men gathered in the street in great numbers, and there was much talk of lynching the negro. Several deputy sheriffs arrived at 8:30 p. m., and in a few minutes had spirited Moberly away. The negro is still in town, however, and the people are greatly excited.

At a late hour it was reported that a large number of men were coming from Carbondale, intent upon lynching the negro.

FARMER AND DAUGHTER SHOT.

Meridian, Miss., Oct. 28.—A. A. Crenshaw, a Newton county farmer, and his eighteen-year-old daughter were shot by a lawyer named Foy, who had called to serve a writ of attachment. The farmer and his daughter opened fire on the lawyer and he returned the fire.
Crenshaw is thought to be fatally hurt, but the girl will recover.

Foy Escaped In Jail.

meeting, and the origin, as near as can
be ascertained, was as follows:

THE END

Of Czolgosz, Assassin of President McKinley.

NO RELIC TO BE LEFT

To Satisfy Morbid Curios- ity Or Relatives.

CLOTHES ORDERED BURNED.

BODY TO BE SECRETLY BURIED WITHIN THE WALLS OF AUBURN PRISON.

AN AUTOPSY TO BE HELD.

At 7 o'clock this morning Leon Czolgosz, assassin of President McKinley, will meet death in the electric chair in Auburn prison. Not the slightest relic will be permitted to leave the prison walls.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Leon F. Czolgosz will have paid the tribute with his life to the law as the murderer of President William McKinley by 7:45 o'clock to-morrow morning, and unless he undergoes a great change of heart and strength in the few hours of life left to him, he will go to the electric chair unconfessed and unrepentant. He suffered a slight nervous attack late to-day, but remained lucid and stoical up to the time the prison closed at 10 o'clock.
He refused to heed the words of the priests who came to urge spiritual preparation for death, and declined to either embrace Roman Catholicism or renounce anarchy. Hence, unless he changes his mind, there will be no religious ceremony at the end.

Will Not Surrender Body.

Czolgosz showed no strength of love for kin, nor did he turn to any of those higher considerations which ordinarily claim the thoughts of men occupying his position. He may have suffered untold torture, but, outwardly, he seemed sullen and indifferent. The State is not to surrender possession of his body, and by sundown it will have been secretly interred in ground controlled by the officials of Auburn prison.

Waldock Czolgosz, brother of the murderer, foreseeing endless difficulties and possibly angry demonstrations as the result of an attempt to give the body ordinary burial, heeded the advice of Superintendent of State Prisons Collins and Warden Mead, and formally relinquished all claim to it. He merely stipulated that at the close of the autopsy all parts of the body should be buried. All chance of an unhappy and unfortunate sequel to the execution, and the consequent display of popular contempt or the exhibition of ghastly relics, is therefore finally prevented.

Clothes To Be Burned.

The plan of burning his clothing and papers will be carried out immediately after the execution.
The electrical machine is ready for its work; Auburn prison is carefully guarded; the city is in its normal calm, and there seems to be no circumstance standing in the way of the successful and expeditious execution of the law.
Czolgosz held his last two interviews to-night, the first with Supt. Collins and the second with his brother and brother-in-law. Both of the interviews were brief, and the interviewers did most of the talking until the question of religion was mentioned, when Czolgosz broke from his seeming lethargy and violently denounced the church and the clergy, and made his relatives promise that there should be no service for him, living or dead.

Priests See Prisoner.

Prior to the late evening interviews, Czolgosz reluctantly received Fathers Fudziński and Hickey. It was late in the afternoon, and it occurred after he had once refused to meet them. When they reached the prison Supt. Collins conveyed the request for an interview to the prisoner. Czolgosz sent back word that he did not care to see them, but the priests asked to see him, despite his refusal. Supt. Collins consented, and personally escorted them to the cell.
The priests remained with Czolgosz for three-quarters of an hour, and earnestly pleaded with the prisoner to repent and pray for divine forgiveness. He rejected all their advances, however, and they regretfully withdrew. They told the prisoner they would hold themselves ready to answer a call from him at any hour of the night.

It was 7 o'clock when Supt. Collins went into the death house and tried to get the prisoner to talk to him. Although he remained in the cell some time, he was apparently not successful in getting anything material from him.

No Demonstration.

At 8 o'clock the brother and brother-in-law arrived, and Supt. Collins took them down to the condemned man's cell. There was no demonstration when they met; Czolgosz merely stepped to the front of his steel cage and said:
"Hello!"

"The brother ventured the remark:

FIGURES OF CENSUS TAKERS SHOW REPUBLICAN FRAUDS.

Great Vote In the Mountain Counties Far Out of Proportion To the Available Voters.

Washington, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—An employee of the United States Census Bureau has prepared an interesting table, based on the official census returns and the official vote at the November election, 1900, comparing the Eleventh and First congressional districts in the State of Kentucky.
This table shows in the nineteen counties of the Eleventh district a total vote of 50,558 was cast for the Republican, Democratic and scattering candidates for the presidency. The Census Bureau gives the number of males twenty-one years of age and over in the nineteen counties as 56,076. Or, in other words, the nineteen counties of the Eleventh district poll 90 per cent. of their highest possible vote.

In the thirteen counties of the First district a total vote of 42,728 was cast for the Democratic, Republican and scattering candidates for the presidency. The Census Bureau gives the number of males twenty-one years of age and over in the thirteen counties as 51,167. Or, in other words, the First district polls 83 1/2 per cent. of its highest possible vote.

In one county of the Eleventh district, the county of Leslie, a greater vote was polled than the Census Bureau gives voters.

In both districts the Census Supervisors were Republicans.

SECURES HIS BRIDE IN SPITE OF OBSTACLES

A Mason County Elopement Ends Happily After Many Ups and Downs.

Maysville, Ky., Oct. 28.—[Special.]— Love finds the way and the elopement of William Auxier and Miss Goodwin has terminated happily. The entire population of Rectortown came to town to-day to witness the trial of Col.
Frank G. Goodwin and his son, who took Auxier's bride from him by force.
It was plain that sympathy was running strong in favor of the groom, William Auxier. Both sides employed counsel and the morning was consumed in parleying out of court. Auxier rejected every proposition tending to make him give up his wife. He received a letter from her Saturday saying she regretted the step and asking him to consider the marriage off. The letter requested no reply. Auxier attributed the letter to undue influence and refused to credit its contents.

The bride's family urged that he was not the proper man for the girl to marry and various excuses were made to have the marriage annulled.

Court street, where the negotiations were in progress, was lined with people watching and discussing the affair.
The bride and groom were left alone in a law office facing the street, to talk a few moments later Mr. and Mrs.
Auxier were seen driving rapidly towards his country home. Col. Goodwin and family will accept the final result gracefully. All law suits have been filed away.

Finally, the law office door opened and Will D. Auxier, with his bride, walked hurriedly out and down the street. Auxier waved his hat and shouted to the eager crowd: "Boys, I have got her. The crowd cheered and a few moments later Mr. and Mrs.
Auxier were seen driving rapidly
towards his country home. Col. Good-
filed away.

KENTUCKY HUNTERS WANTED BY THE ILLINOIS AUTHORITIES.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—[Special.]— Gov. Yates is lending his official support to the county authorities in Southern Illinois in their war against indiscriminate and illegal hunting by persons living across the State line in Kentucky and Missouri.

To-day the Governor issued a requisition upon the Governor of Kentucky for the extradition of Finis Cartwright, John Eason and Mat Meacham, residents of Paducah, who are wanted in Mason county, Illinois, to answer a charge of hunting without a license. It is claimed that the three men came across the river into Illinois and shot squirrels and partridges without securing permits to hunt in the State.

This case is the first of a promised series of prosecutions that will be waged in Southern Illinois. Under the present law a $10 license entitles the holder to hunt anywhere in the State. The offense being merely a misdemeanor, it is doubtful whether the Governor of Kentucky will honor the requisition papers.

additional guard sat in Czolgosz's cell to-night.

WILL BE BURIED IN AUBURN.

Czolgosz's Brother Agrees To Relin- quish All Claim For the Body.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The body of Leon Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley, will not be removed from Auburn. Superintendent of State Prisons, Collins, and Warden Mead, and John Warren Mead, all brothers of contrivance with Czolgosz's brother, succeeded in obtaining from him the following relinquishment of the family claims to the body when the executioner shall have finished his work.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 28, 1901. I, Warren Mead, Agent and Warden, Auburn Prison, hereby authorize you, as Warden of Auburn prison, to dispose of the body of my brother, Leon F. Czolgosz, by burial in the cemetery attached to the prison, as provided by the law of the State of New York.

This request made upon the express understanding that no part of the remains be given to any person or society, but that the entire body will be buried according to the law in the cemetery attached to the prison.

WALDECK CZOLGOSZ.

Witnesses: John A. Slesher, George E.
Graham.

Suspensions Aroused.

The resolution of Superintendent Collins to prevent sensation in the transportation and burial or cremation of the body of Czolgosz was met with great opposition from two officers who were submitted to-day by men of questionable enterprise. A museum keeper in one of the larger Eastern cities telegraphed him an offer of $5,000 spot cash for either the body or the garments of the mur-derer and the owner of a kinetoscope wired Warden Mead that he would pay $2,000 for permission to take a moving picture of Czolgosz entering the death chamber.

Talk With Waldock.

FORGIVEN,

But Longed-For Words
Came Too Late.

WAYWARD SON WAS DEAD.

FRED TESDORFF LIVED A "BUM," DIED A CHRISTIAN.

STORY OF HIS DOWNFALL.

Strayed Into the Hope Rescue Mission
One Evening With "Happy Jack."

A REMARKABLE FUNERAL.

A messenger boy brought his family's forgiveness to a dead man at the Hope Rescue Mission last night.

Twelve weeks ago a homeless wanderer, a "dope fiend," a barrel-house bum, knelt in the Hope Rescue Mission, at 808 West Jefferson street, to pray for God's forgiveness. Last night many of those who had heard the initial confession of faith, that first plea for divine mercy, gathered again in the mission.
A second time the barrel-house bum was the object of the meeting, for this was the funeral service of Fred Tesdorff, the black sheep of a patrician family, who had dragged the name of his people into the gutter, then died without receiving their pardon. He lay before them in his coffin, calm and peaceful, while Evangelist Bruce told hardened sinners of the saving of black sheep. In the very midst of the service there was a stir about the door.
A blue-capped Western Union boy pushed his way through the crowd. Straight up the aisle he went, past the coffin and stopped at the platform upon which the evangelist stood.

"It's important," said the youngster at last behind a telegram.

Mr. Bruce took it and tore open the envelope. The crowd watching the evangelist's hands shake, saw his lips tremble.
He raised his head.

"My friends," and the voice faltered.
"It's Fred's forgiveness come to him at last," he said.

The messenger had brought a loving telegram from the uncle of the dead man.

His Downward Path.

Eight years ago Tesdorff showed up in Louisville. He was well-appearing, neat and at first made a good impression on all with whom he came in contact.
He had worked in a drug store in Memphis, Tenn., and soon took a similar position in Louisville. Soon he became a friend of the evangelist. This friend found that the young fellow of good appearance not only drank, but worse, was a confirmed "dope fiend." As usual in such cases, he went from bad to worse. He worked at doing some little translations on the Anzeizer and served as a job in drug stores whenever he could.

Then he became too filthy to ever find employment, and he drifted to the barrel house.

For two years this gentleman by the name of Fred Tesdorff, a long time of travelling, descended, cleaned spittoons and washed windows in a Green-street dive for his "booze" or "dope" and all the time over the water in far-away Bremen, an old mother prayed daily for the rescue of her lost son. While in New York, Baltimore and South America, his close relatives wondered what had become of him.

Last December the barrel-house bum came to a friend called "Happy Jack," drifted in the Hope Rescue Mission.
Jack straightway became affected. In a few weeks he was a confirmed "dope fiend," a barrel-house bum, and a confirmed "dope fiend." To the most advanced German free-thinking schools, scolded at the idea of God and went on to drift back again and again.

He came to scoff, and then, at last, through the entreaties of "Happy Jack," Bruce, who helped him time and again, the seafarer returned to pray.

His Reformation.

It was just twelve weeks ago that Tesdorff came to the front at the close of one of the meetings and knelt to ask forgiveness for his sins.

From that time forward there was no more earnest Christian than the old free-thinker. He gave up his "booze," his "dope." Nothing remained of his old life but the shattered constitution it had left him.

A month ago he began to fail. Mr.
Bruce sent him to the City Hospital.
There Dr. Doyle and Dr. Abel, who attended the case, pronounced him to be suffering from a tumor. The man could not stand the operation of an operation and nothing could be done to save him.

When hope was gone Mr. Bruce told him gently that the end was not far off. And then, with death near at hand, the black sheep of the mission died. The first time in ten years, wrote to his mother. He did not even know that he was alive, but he hoped. The moti-gotten that letter yesterday. It tells her that her son was not afraid to die, and that he was a Christian. He had all these years must have done him some good, and that now he believed, and only wished to live long enough to hear from her once more.

From the time that letter was written Tesdorff fought and prayed to be saved. Friends of the man's old life in Louisville and of his late regeneration had come to pay the last tributes with respect to the memory of Fred Tesdorff.

Audience Deeply Moved.

Mr. Bruce spoke of him. He told the story of "Fred's life and of his death."
And then he took up the letter that had arrived too late. Men in the audience were swaying hard, and women cried softly as the evangelist, standing beside the open coffin, read extracts from the letter that had come to the outcast just too late. It began:

My Dear Fred: How much my thoughts have been with you since I

For Young America.

"A great opportunity is being offered the young men of America to go into business on a small capital and make a success of it," said Lieut. Col. Rodman, of the Twentieth Infantry, to a reporter for the Courier-Journal last night, while discussing the future of the Philippines.

"A man with little money may go to the islands," he said, "go into any kind of mercantile business with a capital of $500 or $600, and if he gives the business close attention he will soon be independent. It is not inclined to follow a mercantile pursuit let him buy a small tract of land and raise farm products for the market, or let him engage in any other industrial pursuit, and he will find that fortune will smile on him. I think that the Philippines present a golden opportunity to the young man, and the best indication of what is thought of his country is that hundreds of discharged soldiers are remaining there after their terms of enlistment expire. Instead of the next three years the islands will be in a state of cultivation and as soon as the mining laws are fixed and the mining industry fully developed, I do not doubt but that gold, copper and coal will be found in paying quantities. There there is the hardwood industry. The islands abound in hardwood, and fortunes can be made from it. Even now the Phil-man Company has an agent there buying the wood to be sent to America, and about $100,000 worth of the wood can be got out at a very small cost.

by Judge Evans, of the United States District Attorney Hill asked for the rule on the ground that Townsend defrauded the Government out of $14.4 witness fee in the J. H. Shulkey case by wrongfully representing that he was a witness in the case.

In his response, says that he that he was later recognized to appear

INDIANA APPLES

SEEM TO BE TEMPTING THE WORLD'S MARKETS.Twenty Thousand Barrels Shipped From Four Southern Hoosier Counties Since September 1.

New Albany has the distinction this season of being the largest fruit shipping point in Southern Indiana, especially for apples. Since September 1 there have been shipped from that city by rail to Northern and Eastern markets over 20,000 barrels of this fruit, the product of the orchards of Floyd, Harrison, Crawford and Perry counties.
The greater part, however, came from Harrison.

One New Albany shipper, Gus Greene, has shipped to Chicago, Buffalo and Boston 8,000 barrels since the season opened. He purchased the fruit by means of buyers in Harrison and Crawford counties and had it delivered in New Albany over the Southern. His buyers made purchases as far distant as Chicago and New Albany is the paid $1.50 a barrel for the fruit on the tree in the orchards and as high as $1.50 a barrel for it delivered, packed and ready for shipment, at the railroad stations. Mr. Greene began making contracts with the growers in some instances as early as August 1, and his profits on his extensive deals will be a handsome return for his foresight and sagacity. William Bluss and Frank Bellevue, other large dealers in New Albany, made extensive purchases from wagons for shipment North.

The most extensive buyer of the fruit that came to New Albany is Mr. Hoagland, of Leavenworth, Crawford county, who is acting for the extensive commission houses of Chicago. He has continued his operations entirely to the orchards in Harrison, Crawford and Perry counties, along the Ohio river, and within hauling distance of the steamboat landings. For the last two months nearly every steamer of the Louisville and Evansville Packet line has brought up the river each trip a greater or less number of barrels of apples. On several occasions over 500 barrels were in one cargo, and the steamer, at the New Albany wharfboat aggregated over 1,000 barrels, and over 15,000 have been received there since the opening of the season. Nearly all of these were purchased by Hoagland and were shipped by his orders to his employers in Chicago and New Albany.

There are still large quantities of the fruit in the orchards and at the steamboat landings awaiting shipment, and the season will be heavy for several weeks. The growers in the Ohio river counties have received very handsome prices for the product of their orchards.
The figures at no time being less than $1.25 a barrel, and from that up. In addition to the large shipments, hundreds of barrels of apples have been produced out of the windfalls and culls, while immense quantities of clutter are being sold for fuel.

A great part of the apples that were brought up the river came from the orchards near New Amsterdam. There is reason to believe that the apples will be produced out of the windfalls and culls, while immense quantities of clutter are being sold for fuel.

Wanted a Line On City Hall.
Controller Hancock yesterday received a letter from the city of Cleveland asking for some information regarding the size of the City Hall, its cost and other information concerning it. Cleveland is about to erect a handsome municipal home, and wants to have its plans drawn after the most modern City Hall in the United States. Mr. Hancock furnished the desired information.

ADJOURNED

Meeting To-day of Sinking Fund Commissioners.

DEMOCRATIC HEADS WANTED

P. BOOKER REED'S ANXIETY TO START GUILLOTINE.

MAY FAIL IN THE ATTEMPT.

The Sinking Fund Commissioners will meet in adjourned session this afternoon, and before they adjourn until next Monday there may be some interesting developments, as well as several vacancies so far as the Democrats are concerned. The meeting this afternoon, according to a statement made by one of the Republican members yesterday afternoon, is to show that the Republicans hold the balance of power and can adjourn to any time they desire.

If there is a quorum present it is the intention of at least one of the commissioners to make a motion to discharge every Democratic license inspector employed by the board, as well as the stenographer and clerk, and fill their places with Republicans. There is hardly any doubt that all of the Republican members will be in attendance, and both of the Democratic members have signified their intention of attending.

From a reliable source it was learned yesterday that Mr. P. Booker Reed would make a motion to discharge the six remaining license inspectors, assistant inspector, stenographer and clerk. If Messrs. Mengel and Wood vote with him the motion will be carried and the places will be filled by Republicans. The fact that Mr. Reed has determined to take this step to-day came in the nature of a surprise to politicians in general yesterday, as it was understood that no effort would be made to remove any one until the regular meetings of the commissioners, which will be on Monday, according to the Republicans, and on November 12, according to the Democrats. While it is pretty generally understood that an effort would be made to remove the Democrats to-day none of their successors was mentioned, and the Republicans declined to discuss the names of any men that might be elected to fill the vacancies.

It is regarded as certain that any action taken by the Republicans to-day towards making removals will be forced by Mr. Reed, but some doubt whether both of the other Republican members will vote with him. It is thought that Mr. Reed is simply seeking the removal of the Democrats in order to make political capital for the Republicans and strengthen the chances of the city ticket by appointing a few party workers to office for a few weeks. It is also stated that an expert accountant to examine the books of the Water Company will be discussed at the meeting to-day, but it is hardly probable that an appointment will be made until the meeting of the commission on Monday. No person has been agreed upon to make the examination, and it is doubtful if a local man is appointed, as Mr. Reed is understood to favor some out-of-town man.

The election of a wharfmaster will not be taken up until the meeting next Monday. There is a lively scramble among the candidates for the office, but it is a matter of much speculation at present as to who the successful candidate will be. Well informed politicians say that if the wharfmaster is a Republican it will be Capt. Ekin, but Mr. Reed says that he will vote for John Hyams to the very last.

AFTER OIL.

MR. MCHORD PREPARES TO DEVELOP PROMISING FIELDS.

Makes Deal With Eastern Banker and Work in Washington County Is Soon To Begin.

Mr. John D. McInnis, a wealthy oil promoter of Meridian, Miss., was here yesterday in consultation with Mr. C. C. McChord regarding Mr. McChord's oil properties in Washington county. Mr. McInnis represents Mr. W. H. Dreyfus, a wealthy New York banker, who has leased the property and will begin its development immediately. After consulting Mr. McChord, Mr. McInnis left for the East to make arrangements to sink other wells on the property. He stated that Mr. Dreyfus would spend $75,000 in prospecting for oil, and from investigations made by the experts he thinks a rich find probable. Mr. McChord controls leases of 2,000 acres of land in Washington county, which he has subleased to these men, and if oil is struck in paying quantities he will get one-third of the profits, and the remainder will go to the prospectors. A company will not be formed, but Mr. Dreyfus will develop individually. The land is said to be in almost a direct line with the oil lands of Wayne county.

A well was sunk on the Washington county property ten years ago by a farmer who was boring for water. He struck oil after going down several hundred feet, but never attempted to do anything with it. Oil has been running from the well for ten years. A few years later he gave an option on the property to western men for a period of five years. They were to develop it at any time during the lease term, but never did. The lease expired last March, and the farmer asked Mr. McChord to take hold of it. He finally did, and at a meeting of Railroad Commissioners held at Asheville, N. C., last August, oil was discussed. Mr. McChord told of his property. Mr. Dreyfus was there as a visitor, and overheard the conversation. He immediately became interested, and talked the matter over with Mr. McChord, and recently a proposition was made by him by telegraph, which was accepted. Mr. McInnis came to Louisville yesterday and the deal was closed. He left for New York last night to purchase the necessary machinery, and stated that the work of development would begin immediately.

COUNTRY RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE.
Mr. George W. Hull Sustains Loss of $7,500—Family Has Narrow Escape.

The handsome residence of Mr. Geo. W. Hull, in Oakdale, on Fifth street, south of Evelyn avenue, was burned to the ground at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The fire had gained considerable headway before the family was awakened by the odor of the smoke and burning woodwork. They had barely time to escape from the house before the flames enveloped the stairways. Had the fire burned five minutes longer undiscovered, the members of the family could only have escaped by jumping from the upper windows.
